PAILLARD'S MUSIC BOXES.

Few people have any idea as to the degree of perfection we have now attained in the manufacture of music boxes.

The monotonous music formerly rendered by music boxes has given place, by reason of recent important improvements in construction, to the most delicate and sympathetic shading, and the sweet effects of a Thomas or Mendt orchestra can now be obtained.

In consequence of this, music lovers of the fashionable world have adopted the use of music boxes as a delightful adjunct to their evening gatherings.

The same courtesy and attention will be extended to you whether you come to purchase or be entertained.

COTTON FACTORS FAIL.

The Memphis House of Thomas H. Allen Carrries Down Its New York Branch.

Richard H. Allen & Co. of St. Louis and Broad street, members of the Cotton Exchange and the New York representatives of the old cotton house of Thomas H. Allen & Sons of Memphis, made an assignment yesterday to Frank K. Waller, a clerk in the office. The members of the firm are Thomas H. Allen and his three sons, Thomas H. Jr., Harry, and Richard H. The latter also filed an individual assignment to Mr. Waller. The New York branch of the firm was started in 1854, the parent house at Memphis having been in business since 1858. The principal business was in cotton. Only a short time ago the firm was rated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000. Mr. Allen, Sr., made a great fortune shortly after the war in buying up cotton plantations, and it is said that he now owns thirty-five of these plantations in Mississippi, Arkansas, and Tennessee. The three sons were admitted to partnership in 1876. The firm formerly had branches in New Orleans and St. Louis.

The parent house at Memphis made an assignment yesterday to M. B. Trezzani, trustee, with liabilities of $70,000, and nominal assets of $1,500,000. Richard H. Allen was almost bailed by the notes. There was nothing for him to do but file for protection. Mr. Waller, the assignee, said the suspension of the parent house was a complete surprise. They believed that the firm could pay all their debts, and that the cause of the failure was that the firm had made large advances to cotton planters, and, owing to the money trouble, it was impossible to collect these debts. To promote the cotton bills, it was also said that the firm had favored the bull side of cotton, and latterly there has been some sharp decline in cotton prices. Some of the smaller banks enter. One bank had offered to the firm assistance, which was declined. The firm handled annually about $20,000,000.

John F. Waldron, who has been a member of the Stock Exchange since Aug. 14, 1872, and who had desk room at Gregory, Ballou & Co.'s office, left yesterday. He has no outstanding contracts on the Exchange, and his losses are insignificant.
